HOW TO REPLY TO THIS NOTICE:

I. Review the SMALL ENTITY status shown above.

If the SMALL ENTITY is shown as YES, verify your current SMALL ENTITY status:

A. If the status is the same, pay the TOTAL FEE(S) DUE shown above.

B. If the status above is to be removed, check box 5b on Part B - Fee(s) Transmittal and pay the PUBLICATION FEE (if required) and twice the amount of the ISSUE FEE shown above, or

Determination of Patent Term Adjustment under 35 U.S.C. 154 (b)

(application filed on or after May 29, 2000)

The Patent Term Adjustment to date is 0 day(s). If the issue fee is paid on the date that is three months after the mailing date of this notice and the patent issues on the Tuesday before the date that is 28 weeks (six and a half months) after the mailing date of this notice, the Patent Term Adjustment will be 0 day(s).

If a Continued Prosecution Application (CPA) was filed in the above-identified application, the filing date that determines Patent Term Adjustment is the filing date of the most recent CPA.

Applicant will be able to obtain more detailed information by accessing the Patent Application Information Retrieval (PAIR) WEB site (http://pair.uspto.gov).

Any questions regarding the Patent Term Extension or Adjustment determination should be directed to the Office of Patent Legal Administration at (571)-272-7702. Questions relating to issue and publication fee payments should be directed to the Customer Service Center of the Office of Patent Publication at 1-(888)-786-0101 (571)-272-4200.

DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 8-21 are allowed over prior art of record.

Reasons for Allowance

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The prior art of record neither anticipates nor renders obvious the claimed subject matter of the instant application as a whole either taken alone or in combination, in particular, prior art of record does not teach "wherein in the heating, the electrically conductive particles collect between the opposing terminals by melting and agglomeration of the electrically conductive particles, and the opposing terminals are electrically interconnected; and curing the resin component".

Re. claim 8, Kawaguchi et al. discloses a method of interconnecting terminals comprising: placing terminals(2a,2b) so as to oppose each other with an anisotropic electrically conductive resin composition including at least electrically conductive particles(4) and a resin component(3) which is not completely cured at the melting point of the electrically conductive particles disposed between the opposing terminals; heating the resin composition with the opposing terminals large enough to enable the particles to move laterally inside the space(Figure 2,Column 5,lines 46-68) but does not teach heating the resin composition to a temperature which is higher than the melting point of the electrically conductive particles and at which the resin component is not completed cured, wherein in the heating, the electrically conductive particles collect between the opposing terminals by melting and agglomeration of the electrically conductive particles, and the opposing terminals are electrically interconnected; and curing the resin component.

Therefore, prior art of record neither anticipates not render obvious the instant application claimed invention as a whole either taken alone or in combination.

Claims 9-10,15-19 are also allowed as being dependent on allowed claim 8.

Re. claim 11, Kawaguchi et al. discloses a method of mounting a semiconductor device comprising: placing electrode pads(not shown) of a semiconductor chip opposite circuit electrodes provided on a circuit substrate so as to correspond to the electrode pads with an anisotropic electrically conductive resin composition including at least electrically conductive particles and a resin component which is not completely cured at the melting point of the electrically conductive particles disposed between the opposing electrode pads and circuit electrodes(Figure 1)(Figure 2,Column 5,lines 46-68) but does not teach heating the resin composition to a temperature which is higher than the melting point of the electrically conductive particles and at which the resin component is not completed cured, wherein in the heating, the electrically conductive particles collect between the opposing electrode pads and circuit electrodes by melting and agglomeration of the electrically conductive particles, and the opposing electrode pads and circuit electrodes are electrically interconnected; and curing the resin component.

Art Unit: 2895

Therefore, prior art of record neither anticipates not render obvious the instant application claimed invention as a whole either taken alone or in combination.

Claims 12-14 are also allowed as being dependent on claim 11.

Re. claim 20, Kawaguchi et al. discloses a method of interconnecting terminals comprises: placing a first member having a first terminal opposite a second member having a second terminal so that each of the first terminal opposes one of the second terminal to define a pair of opposing terminal with an anisotropic electrically conductive resin composition including electrically conductive particles(4) and a resin component(3) which is not completely cured at the melting point of the electrically conductive particles completely filling a region between the first and second member which contains the pair of opposing terminal; heating the resin composition to enable the particles to move laterally inside the space but does not teaches having a plurality of first and opposing second terminals and heating the resin composition to a temperature which is higher than the melting point of the electrically conductive particles and at which the resin component is not completely cured with the two terminals in each pair of opposing terminals and wherein in the heating, a plurality of the electrically conductive particles in the composition move from outside the spaces between the opposing terminals and accumulate in the spaces together with electrically conductive particles already inside the spaces prior to the heating by melting and agglomeration of the electrically conductive particles to electrically interconnect the two opposing terminals in each of the opposing terminals and curing the resin component.

Therefore, prior art of record neither anticipates not render obvious the instant application claimed invention as a whole either taken alone or in combination.

Claim 21 is also allowed as being dependent on claim 20.

Conclusion

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
